Changing the way business thinks about Integration

On-Demand Nexternal to Quickbooks Integration

The next step after buying Nexternal is connecting to Quickbooks and synchronizing with your existing information such as accounts, opportunities and products.

Integrationondemand offers the only Nexternal Certified, on-demand, hosted Nexternal to Quickbooks solution offering real-time, bi-directional synchronization of your key data.

Integrationondemand provides your integration solution as a hosted service. There are no software products running in your environment, no programmers coding connections to API's or hardware to buy; the complete solution comes as our standard offering. The result? Complete elimination of duplicate data entry between your sales, order and business processes, saving you time, money and most importantly – providing you seamless customer information to support your customers.

With Integrationondemand, your data is ready to flow when you are.

Save time on the Sales side

- All sales are recorded in Nexternal
- Your reports are complete, and so are your list of customers.
- This information is now ready to populate your email and marketing campaigns, automatically.
- You can now utilize the full power of the Nexternal system, because...
- It's all in Nexternal, and all the Accounting information in is Quickbooks.

Save time on the Accounting side

- Orders in Salesforce automatically arrive as Pending Sales Receipts.
- This give Accounting full control of revenue recognition and transaction timing.
- Customer Records in Quickbooks are automatically created.
- Full synchronization with Products Pricing
- Full synchronization with Opportunities Quotes.
- And, Nexternal is updated.
